Testimonials

As a Communication Leader of an Open Science European Project, organising the project final event at the EGI Foundation Conference allowed me to showcase my technical results to the audience I was looking for: future users of the technologies but also potential institutions and initiatives with whom the project could synergise with and go beyond its goals. It was a smooth and professional experience to work with EGI Foundation team to ensure the delivery of a successful event, within an exciting congress, where you IT breath innovation in the air.

– Rita Meneses, Project Manager at Trust-IT Services

The new format of having exhibition booths was a great idea! As exhibitors, we could let people know where to find us and set up meetings. Also having the booths in an area with a lot of footfall at EGI2023 meant there was a lot of opportunity to interact with users

– Shubo Chakrabarti – Mathworks

The EGI conference brings together the initiatives populating the decentralised innovation ecosystem in Europe, giving them the opportunity to find synergies and develop connections with a unique infrastructure, and more importantly, giving people the chance to go beyond organisations, bond and develop trust, which is the cornerstone of innovation

– Alessandro Paciaroni – The Lisbon Council

At EGI2023, OpenAIRE was proud and excited to showcase our extensive services portfolio and connect with our target scientific communities & researchers. The hybrid exhibition, featuring both physical and virtual booths, allowed us to engage with a wider audience and foster meaningful discussions with partners and initiatives across Europe

– Athina Papadapoulou, OpenAIRE
